Boggy talk: Ride-It, Baby has suggested a socially distanced meeting of the micro hashes as she sets trail at Devils Dyke for the Hove group Monday 20th July. In order for this to work it is important to follow a few rules:

IT IS HASHING BUT NOT AS WE KNOW IT ...

After 17 virtual hashes we are running again but please ...

- Pre-book in pods of up to 6 hashers and/or harriettes in 15 minute increments (please don't just turn up)
- Turn up before your allotted set-off time (and if you arrive too early please stay in your vehicle until the previous 'pod' has set-off)
- Look out for others in your pod and stay together after each check, i.e. if you find the trail work your way back to the check, gather, & move on (and please don't leave anyone behind)
- Don't mark the checks through so that others in later pods get the same hashing experience
- Leave at the conclusion of the run if you feel uncomfortable with staying
- Bring your own drinks and stay in your pods (socially distanced of course) or enjoy a pub beer in their garden in your pods
- Read the comments on the booking spreadsheet for any additional instructions/guidance for that run

Have fun!

Nose quiz answers

1. Prince Crashpian - Trevor got his name after a spectacular fall on his first hash back from Thespian duties, and had to be carried down the hill and carted off to A&E. We didn't see him again for a while!
2. Pompette - Chris joined us around 2010 and didn't miss a hash for possibly a year or more! Admittedly much of it as Bob's carer, but an impressive run nevertheless.
3. Hash Gomi - Dutch Dave is our very own Del Boy and always has an eye on the market for the next big thing.
4. Local Knowledge - With us since day one and still out there most weeks, we always look forward to Pete's Christmas plants from Beardsfield Nursery.
5. Trouble - (aka Tumble aka Wants Her Oats), formerly EGH3, has still only done a small amount of real r*ns with us but has already set trail, and registered as BH7 for next years Eurohash, as well as being one of our most regular Zoom participants. We are honoured!
6. Wildbush - Kayleen got her hash name from her mass of hair!
7. Dangleberry - A bottomless imagination has seen Dangleberry slip seamlessly into Bogeyman's shoes with his amazing array of hats in particular, ousting Lily on consistency throughout the year at the Christmas party.
8. Angel - An RA's dream once she gets going, but it's all in play and forgotten when reminded how few trails Angel actually sets!
9. Wilds Thing - Inspired by Fukarwe and KIU's 100 club efforts Sean has set his sights on joining them. On the longest day he took on the 24 miles in 24 hours but got carried away covering over 40!
10. Bushsquatter - It's a rare night when we don't have to include Cheryl as one of the obstacles to avoid!
11. Gromit - With a surname like Wallace who else could it be but Pete, who deliberately screwed his face to throw us off the scent (sic!).
12. Just Kikk'im - Kim not only loves her dogs but is something of a horse whisperer too, her name being awarded after someone was moaning that the horses were hanging around the stile and she told the horse to just kick him.
13. Knightrider - Of course it's Kit, who will always get us the Down Down beer but will be after you for your pounds.
14. Spurtacus - "I'm Spurtacus" parodied Life of Brian's parody of the film Spartacus but was a fitting hash name given Stewarts hashing style of mixing periods of long inactivity with sudden bursts of speed that leave us all standing.
15. Roaming Pussy - Regular winner of sip stop of the year for her cheesy feet, it is of course Daryl!
16. Bouncer - And most of it goes right over our heads, but Bouncer will always be Bouncer.
17. Eat My Cucumber - Although St. Bernard is holder of the wettest hash award, you can guarantee rain if KIU gets the barbecue out, and Prof will always have us in the sea, Ross is worshipped by all the little clouds who insist on pouring their rain on him.
18. Airman - We all get injured but Bob has fallen a long way from his GB Athlete days. His 6 million dollar rebuild will hopefully get him back at least walking with us, but there's always the garden train to play with if not!
19. Ride-It, Baby - Things might wash over the other three but Pat is the cyclist, hence her moniker.
20. Cliffbanger - Thank you Colin for all the photos for this quiz!
21. St. Bernard - Of course it's Charlie the rescue dog who will always fill a gap in the sheet, find beer for the parties, administer first aid for the rare mishaps, lends a helping hand if someone get's stuck, and still fits in a cheeky neck massage for anyone who wants one!
22. Swallow - Well Drambulie hashed with us years ago and has recently come back but Val celebrated her birthday just before we were locked down. We look forward to a proper hash celebration and Dame'ing!
23. Keeps It Up - Brent took over responsibility for the website from Louis some years back while Lily sorts out the permissions. Dangleberry has done some very clever stuff to keep us interested in lockdown.
24. Chopper - The other survivor with Pete Eastwood from run #1, we owe Phil and Pete a great debt for keeping this crazy thing going.
25. Lily the Pink - Even the BBC were chasing Tim when he did the parkrun in the same tree costume he'd used on our Christmas hash!

REZOOMING the Hash...

Zoom #14 The birds and the bee orchids – The Zoom club is becoming more and more exclusive these days, but to be fair Angel and myself only made it by the skin of our teeth after an excellent micro hash set by Trouble in Uckfield. Apologies were received from Just Jacqui, then, as the small talk of the various other micro's threatened to rule out time for the quiz, a quick poll was taken BEFORE the quiz to see how much we'd enjoyed it! Hopes weren't too high judging by the 60% "not really", however, we were given an excellent education in the flora and fauna of Fuffex. The winner was probably Roaming Pussy or Gromit, I don't know, but Dangleberry took his three points to heart and was out! There will be a Ducky Boggy Shoe in the (hopefully) not too distant future but identification levels were low for that section and guesses such as Daffy, Donald and Jemima were way off the mark. Post quiz there was discussion on Zoom meeting times and of course another round of Funnies. Another great Zoom hash – have a go at the quiz:

In case you didn't realise, China seems to have a sense of humour

Definition of irony: When the year of the rat starts with a plague. [Must be a typo. Ed!]

Our local Mexican restaurant used to be a Chinese restaurant. Instead of painting over a mural, they just put sombreros on the pandas.

Pretend you're a giant panda by giving yourself two black eyes, eating only bamboo shoots and refusing to have sex with the missus.

We cannot allow this year to end. That would be admitting that 2021. Although we'll get another chance, because 2022 is 2020 too. Then a couple of years later maybe we'll learn what was 2024?

MICRO-HASHING

Inevitably as the pods start to attract more punters, the Zoom attendance has dropped away. It seems pods are staying together on the whole with the Saltdean group and Haywards Heath groups attracting much the same group of hashers each week. The Hove group are still moving around and as mentioned elsewhere, are initiating a combined hash in pods. The pics have stopped appearing on Facebook so you're limited to what Angel and I have been up to. Last week we were in Uckfield for a lovely trail set by Trouble through Buxted Park. We had hoped to be joined by Don but he bailed out with pace concerns, although he would've been fine with myself and Chaos in the pack, which also included the virgin Mary. Moving on a week and pubs were now starting to open so we arranged a trail in Bolney that allowed both Trouble in the east and Wilds Thing and Prince Crashpian in the west to make it along. Starting as the church chimed 6 bells, it was quite neat that it chimed 7 bells as we came back into the village, so it would've been rude not to pop into the 8 Bells for a Harveys, although as hashers we were pipped to a pub by the cycling group of Cooperman, Whose Shout, Gotlost, Spreadsheet, Chopper and Simon Eastwood seen here at the Half Moon, Warninglid!

EDUCATION IS IMPORTANT – BUT REOPENING THE PUBS IS IMPORTANTER

The pubs are reopening but if you can drink from home, you should. If you can't drink from home you can go to the pub but only for essential drinks. You should stay 2 metres apart unless you're pissed, then you can move up to 1 metre so someone can hold you up/chat you up/feel you up. Don't get too pissed though as you need to stay alert, but if you do get too pissed, use your drunken aggression to beat the virus.

There will also be a round of applause for all bar staff at 2am every Saturday night to make up for the pittance they earn as keyworkers.

Stay safe and make sure the pipes are clean.

If 2020 was a beer...

Dear bar staff, Please don't be offended if we ask "Is there any alcohol at all in this?" Just remember we've been making our own drinks these last few weeks and it may take a little while to adjust. Thank you. [nb Radio Soap actually did this! Ed.]

With Yorkshire day being celebrated on 1st August here's some messages from our Yorkshire hashers in arms (hosts of Nash Hash 2021):

Thursday 9th July 2020

DAILY HASH SPECIAL REPORT:

Kennels get running with plea for emergency hash funding

"I don't think there will be a hashing industry to go back to," says Jane "Easy Access" Lamont.

Hash kennels have called for a slice of the government's £1.5bn emergency arts and leisure funding, with a warning that hundreds face closure within the next year.

Hashing was not mentioned when the government announced its bailout for arts and leisure on Sunday.

Half the kennels that took part in a Hashing Association survey said they would definitely face "permanent closure" without financial support.

Ms Access (YH3 GM and UK Nash Hash poster girl) said that small hashes are "the bedrock of the entire nation's mental health and our ability to grow old disgracefully".

She told the DAILY HASH: "All the household pissheads we know and love today will have started in those hashes. The risk of those groups disappearing poses a risk that we could lose a whole new generation of ne'er-do-wells and larrikins from our industry."

The association surveyed more than 660 hashers about the impact of the coronavirus pandemic. Those interviewed ranged from serial vindaloo merchants and obsessive hares, through to occasional attendees and long-standing members of the knitting circle. The survey found:

- 49% of kennels will face permanent closure without further funding or support;
- 45% of hashers have given serious thought to taking up "proper" running;
- 24% have taken up work outside hashing;
- 28% of PUPs have been ineligible for any government assistance, despite needing support;
- 74% have found their mental health negatively impacted by hashing uncertainty.

There are around 200 hash kennels in the UK, according to the association/ Ms Access said, "We need hashing to be included in the distribution of this £1.57bn."

"We have had a longstanding history of being overlooked as a serious pastime (for funding), we're really worried at not seeing hashing listed in the press release and not being able to get any clarity on whether we will be included once details are announced."

Easy has met officials from the Treasury, who told her there was no reason hashing would be "actively excluded" but that they were waiting for "guidelines".

Off the record, however, a treasury spokesperson (Alias Dr. J.T.Peg) later told the DAILY HASH: "Over the last three months, these lazy articles have done nowt, they've spent nowt, so there's bugger all for them to get fussed about! They can chuffing well sod off!"

Whilst funding remains unresolved, our reporters have discovered that most hashes are now lurking around the fringes of social media to survive. When pressed on this point, Ms Access denied all accusations of institutionalised cyber-stalking and swiftly terminated our interview.

On On!

And a reminder to keep at least 28 Yorkshire puddings between yourself and others.

A farmer in Yorkshire sees a bloke drinking from his stream and shouts: "Ey up cocker, tha dunt wanna be drinkin watta frum theer, its full o hoss piss an cow shite."

The bloke says: "I am Donald Trump, President of the US of A, on my way to my Scottish ranch. Your accent is too strong for me so you're gonna have to speak clearer, and slower if you want me to understand you."

The farmer replies: "If... you... use... two... hands... you... won't... spill... any."

A Yorkshireman was standing in the pub the other night, minding his own business, when a quite hefty, plain looking woman came up behind him, grabbed his arse and said, "You're cute. Do you have a phone number?"

He said, "Yes, do you have a pen?" She said, "Yes, I've got a pen".

The plain talker said, "Then you better get back into it before the farmer misses you."

Another Yorkie was telling a pretty lass about his ability to guess the day a woman was born by feeling her breasts. "Really" she doubted, "Go on then... let's hear it." After about thirty seconds of fondling she began to lose patience and said, "Come on, what day was I born?"

With a happy smile, the Tyke said, "Yesterday."

REZOOMING - Molly's Picture + Quiz

THEATRE CROWD MUSTN'T BE BITTER

could be opened up next week as well. They have only themselves to blame.

The slightly later start at 8.30pm apparently did nothing to encourage pod runners to join us in the Zoom Arms so maybe the suggested move to our regular pub time of 9pm would also have little effect. Nice to see virtually all of the Bolney Pod making it though, after a lovely run and beer. Only Prince Crashpian was absent but was represented by Molly for the quiz. Cataracts dominated early chat with Jacqui returning after last week's op, and Bushsquatter banned from driving until hers are done. There was also lots of discussion about next week's much anticipated Devils Dyke meet-up, the usual funnies and of course, Molly's excellent quiz, Cliffbanger and Bushsquatter winning a virtual ice lolly, while Bouncer flunked badly to take the wooden stick once Molly's licked it. Another Great Zoom Hash!

- Cricket is allowed in the UK again, but fielders are warned about the dangers of catching something from a bat.
- BBC's Jenny Hill reporting on COVID precautions being taken by football teams in Germany said that Eintracht Frankfurt will be disinfecting their balls at half-time. No wonder the infection rate in the UK is so high; we are only told to wash our hands.

IN THE NEWS

Zoos have finally been given the go-ahead to reopen, after thousands of furloughed flamingos put their foot down.

After Boris Johnson criticises them for 'not following procedures', care homes wonder if they should have booked a coach trip to Durham or Greece instead.

Nicola Sturgeon states that sunbathing is not allowed in Scotland during the lockdown. In response Saudi Arabia has banned skiing.

HOW TRACK AND TRACE WORKS ONCE LOCKDOWN ENDS — IN FULL

- A contact tracer will text or email a person who has tested positive with coronavirus
- That person will assume it's some sort of scam and delete the message
- The contact tracer will then phone the person
- The person will block the caller, assuming the unknown number is one of those automated calls wanting to know if they've recently been in a car accident
- The contact tracer finally gets through 36 hours later to the person, who has meanwhile spread the virus widely, to ask who they have been in contact with, so those people can be made to self-isolate for fourteen days
- The person with coronavirus includes a number of people they don't like in that list, forcing them to go into two-week quarantine
- And conveniently forgets to mention Karen from Marketing with whom they're having an affair
- Er...
- That's it.

BMW dealers are to remain closed. When asked when they would reopen a spokesman said, "we won't be giving any indication".

BREAKING NEWS - A new virus which is spreading a hundred times quicker than Coronavirus has been discovered, the imasthickasshit virus affects people's ability to social distance properly, people with the imasthickasshit virus will go out to parks and beauty spots in their droves with no worries about spreading the Coronavirus. Doctors think that Coronavirus and imasthickasshit virus could be connected, but are worried by the speed imasthickasshit virus is spreading, if you see a group of people drinking tinnies in a public area please keep well clear, stay safe my friends.

Bring Out Your Dead from Monty Python and the Holy Grail

A cart passes through the muddy road through a village. A baby cries. People wrestle in the mud. A woman beats a cat. The cart-master chants wearily as they trudge along: Bring out your dead! Bring out your dead! Bring out your dead! etc. while beating occasionally on a large triangle with a wooden spoon. As each person comes forward with his or her dead relative, they throw them on the cart. He holds out his hand and they pay. Bring out your dead! A man comes out with a dead-looking old man in a nightshirt slung over his shoulder. He starts to put the old man on the cart.

Man: Here's one-

Cart-master: Ninepence.

Old Man: (feebly) I'm not dead!

Cart-master: (suprised) What?

Man: Nothing! Here's your ninepence....

Old Man: I'm not dead!

Cart-master: 'Ere! 'E says 'e's not dead!

Man: Yes he is.

Old Man: I'm not!

Cart-master: 'E isn't?

Man: Well... he will be soon~ he's very ill...

Old Man: I'm getting better!

Man: No you're not, you'll be stone dead in a moment.

Cart-master: I can't take 'im like that! It's against regulations!

Old Man: I don't want to go on the cart....

Man: Oh, don't be such a baby.

Cart-master: I can't take 'im....

Old Man: I feel fine!

Man: Well, do us a favour...

Cart-master: I can't!

Man: Can you hang around a couple of minutes? He won't be long...

Cart-master: No, gotta get to Robinson's, they lost nine today.

Man: Well, when's your next round?

2020
JANUARY FEBRUARY MARCH APRIL

'Tis but a scratch!

Just a flesh wound

I'm invincible!

Alright. We'll call it a draw

Cart-master: Thursday.

Old Man: I think I'll go for a walk....

Man: You're not fooling anyone, you know~ (to Cart-master) Look, isn't there something you can do...? (they both look around)

Old Man: I feel happy! I feel happy! (the Cart-master deals the old man a swift blow to the head with his wooden spoon. The old man goes limp.)

Man: (throwing the old man onto the cart) Ah. thanks very much.

Cart-master: Not at all. See you on Thursday!

I need about 50 people to join me so we can dress up as Zombies and walk around the neighbourhood. Can't let this quarantine go to waste

And finally, a belated thought of the day: Any Zombie movie that doesn't have hordes of people running towards the zombies to deliberately get bitten because they're convinced it's a liberal hoax is going to look pretty unrealistic now.
